Abstract (max. 1500 characters incl. spaces)

The article should be preceded by a short summary of the content of max. 1500 characters including spaces.

The article (excluding title, authors, summary, illustrations, literature and information on the authors) should not exceed 30.000 characters including spaces (in Arial font and font size 11, this corresponds to approx. 10 pages without illustrations).

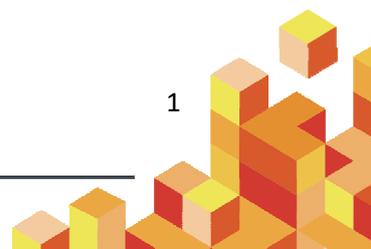

In the text, please ensure that only the first-level headings are numbered consecutively (1, 2, 3,) with a space between each number and the heading text. Lower-level headings should remain unnumbered. Additionally, please avoid numbering the sections "Summary," "Literature," and "Author details."

Please only use formatting that is necessary for the structure (i.e. as little formatting as possible). Please do not use logo paper templates or embedded photos and graphics.

If your article contains images or graphics:

Please only use images for which the copyright/utilization and personal rights have been clarified for the purpose of publication.

(Copyrights and personal rights must not prevent publication of the images/illustrations via Zenodo and the exploitation rights must be clarified).

Please name your image files according to the following scheme: last_name_contribution_number_image_number_rights_holder and submit all image files together in a .zip folder. We require the original files in as high a resolution as possible (at least 300 dpi). If you create a graphic in PowerPoint, for example, we also need the original PowerPoint file.

We reserve the right to adapt the design of graphics to the layout style.

Please also insert your images/graphics in the text. Please add the file name in square brackets after the caption: Example:
